DETAILED ACTION

1. Applicant's election without traverse of species II including claims 4-10 in the reply filed on 05/06/04 is acknowledged.

2. Claims 1-3 and 11-22 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected species, there being no allowable generic or linking claim.

3. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

4. Claims 8 and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter.

Claims 8 and 9 merely recite a method for calculating reciprocal values of an inputs numbers according to a mathematical algorithm. The claims fail to recite any step that requires a specific device to implement the method, and thus are directed to non statutory subject matter.

Art Unit: 2124

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 23-26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Chow (5,768,171).

Chow discloses in figure 2 a circuit having an input (b0-b7), a look-up table (ROM 1) inherently including a matching circuit and an output as claimed. Chow does not specifically disclose the circuits in a FPGA. However, since FPGAs are devices of choice in implementing processing circuits (see the background of the present invention), a person ordinary skill in the art would have found it obvious to implement the circuit of Chow in a FPGA as claimed.

7. Claim 10 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

8. Claims 4-7 are allowed.

9. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
